

Faculty of Medicine
The Chinese University of Hong Kong
MSc in Clinical Gerontology and End-of-Life Care

(new recruitment of part time students in 2019-20)

The programme provides knowledge and training for professionals involved in the care of older people and in end-of-life care in diverse settings. The core programme covers a wide range of topics in biological, social, biological and clinical gerontology. It also covers service models for older people and palliative care and ethical principles in elderly and end-of-life care. The optional courses will be covered too. The project and case studies will train the students in the application of knowledge and in the planning and execution of scientific enquiry or service improvement.

Admission Requirements

Applicants are required to hold a Bachelor's degree in health or social sciences from a recognised university, normally with honours not lower than second class or similar qualifications equivalent to our honours degree. They should also fulfill the English Language requirement set by the University for admission.

Fees and application

The fees for the academic year (2019-20) are HK$65,250.* Students are required to pay the fees in two academic terms per year.
